Castle Amid Derricks Will Be Home Of 28-Year-Old Bride Of Marland, Oil King

Lydie Miller Roberts (left) will become mistress of a million-dollar mansion soon after her impending marriage to E. W. Marland (right), 33-year-old oil millionaire. The home, shown below, is being hurried to completion on Marland's Ponca City, Okla., estate to receive him and the 28-year-old bride who was for twelve years his foster-daughter.

Ponca City, Okla.—(P)—A fairy castle of real brick and stone has risen above the oil derricks of Oklahoma for Lydie Miller Roberts.

With her wedding to E. W. Marland, millionaire oil man and her former foster father, the Philadelphia girl will become mistress of a mansion here which rivals in its splendor the sumptuous manor houses of old England.

It stands on a wooded hill in the middle of a large preserve, looking out across forests filled with birds and game, three polo fields, stables and a golf course.

The new home will be completed soon after the wedding, which will be held before the middle of February. Marland, who is 32, has been a widower for two years. Lydie and her brother George, children of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Roberts, of Philadelphia, were adopted in 1916 by Marland and his first wife, who was their aunt. George is now an executive in the Marland oil company.

The former Marland home in Ponca City is to be torn down, and in its place will rise the statue of the southwest's pioneer woman, by Bryant Baker, which Marland is erecting as a gift to the region. It will be accompanied by a museum devoted to Oklahoma history.

MISS ROBERTS IS FOND OF HORSES, AND ONE OF HER FAVORITE SPORTS IS RIDING TO HOUNDS. THE MARLAND STABLES AND KENNELS SHELTER SOME OF THE FINEST ANIMALS IN THE COUNTRY, AND THE GIRL IS NO STRANGER TO THEM FOR SHE HAS LIVED FOR A DOZEN YEARS AS MARLAND'S ADOPTED DAUGHTER IN THE COUNTRY TO WHICH SHE IS TO RETURN WITHIN A FEW WEEKS AS HIS BRIDE.

MENASHA PUCKSTERS LOSE TO OSHKOSH

Sawdust City Team Grabs 1 to 0 Victory in Overtime Period

Menasha—Playing a thrilling, hair-raising game, Oshkosh team defeated Menasha in a Fox River Valley hockey league game by a 1 to 0 score, at Oshkosh Sunday afternoon in two overtime periods.

As far as the actual playing was concerned both teams were evenly matched. Leo Pack, Menasha goal tender, stopped everything that Oshkosh had to offer until in the last two minutes of the second overtime period when Alan, Oshkosh right wing raised the puck off the ice from the center of the rink, glanced off the goaltender and fell on the ice just over the line for a goal.

Menasha took the puck as the first period opened, and after an unsuccessful attempt at goal, the game assumed a seesaw affair. Menasha took the offensive in the second period, but was unable to follow in on close shots. Ray Schoepel was ruled out for one minute for slashing, but the Oshkosh team was stopped by the close guarding of the locals.

There was a wild melee in the third and last regular period, when both teams resorted to the rough and tumble system of play, but again both teams were scoreless. The first overtime period was played by opposing guards, long shots by Frank Adrian and the Oshkosh defense predominating.

FEDERAL DRY RAIDERS DESCEND ON MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(P)—The Kirby house bar, one of the oldest institutions of its kind in Milwaukee, was raided by federal prohibition agents Sunday. In the basement, the federal men say they found eleven cases and three and one-half barrels of beer, and behind the bar 65 pint bottles of gin.

With the raid another chapter was added to the history of the Kirby house, once Milwaukee's leading hotel, and on one occasion, prior to the civil war, host to Abraham Lincoln. The raid was the climax of an unusual night of activity on the part of the federal men. "The Tent," a novel cabaret, was the first raided. The tent catered only to top-picked clientele, each visitor having to pass close scrutiny at the door. Fifty guests, men and women in evening dress, were in the place when federal men crashed the door. The raiders took the names of all present in addition to arresting the proprietor and manager. Among the guests were several city officials, federal men said. A quantity of beer was found and whiskey was taken from several waiters. The raiders reported this place was draped with heavy canvas, giving it a name and cutting off observation from without.

THE STORY THUS FAR
The story is laid in the Indian territory and along the Kansas border in the '90's, when a fight was being waged by the "Boomers" for the opening of the territory to settlement.

Chief characters are:
TONY HARRISON, orphaned at 13 when his father was murdered in a poker game;
PAWNEE BILL, adventurer, Indian interpreter and showman;
JOE CRAIG, who takes Tony to the Bar K ranch to live;
TITUS MOORE, owner of the Bar K;

RITA MOORE, his little tomboy daughter.
Some years later, when Rita and her mother depart for east and a finishing school, the boy learns for the first time how much he cares for Titus Moore's red-haired, arrogant daughter.

Moore is one of the chief opponents of the movements to open Oklahoma. Word is received that DAVID PAYNE, leader of the movement, is dead, and Tony, in his loyalty to Moore, is troubled because of his sympathy for Payne's cause.

CHAPTER XXXII
Early that fall a letter from Pawnee Bill brought Tony Harrison to Caldwell.

"I'm organizing a wild west show to take out next spring and I want you as fancy rider and roper. Another thing: I've been saving my money and I think I can manage, but I might find rough going and I want to know how much I can borrow from you in case I need it."
"I've got about two thousand dollars in the bank," Tony told him. "I've been right free and easy with it on it would be a lot more. You can borrow up to the limit on that."
"You'll cut in on the profits—if any. I'm obliged to you."
"Not at all. I like to see money work. Mine's been lying around inactive for so long it must be covered with moss."

To seal the bargain they adjourned to a saloon, of which Caldwell had just as many as ever. Although Kansas had frowned on liquor and gambling had been declared illegal in Caldwell, throwback to the days of Abilene and Hays, the saloons and gambling halls flourished and continued to beckon to the thirsty spenders who pushed the herds along the Chisholm Trail.

The coming winter, Tony Harrison had determined, would be his last on the Bar K. He was able to grasp what Joe Craig, Lefe Whitney, Heck Sherman and the others refused to face squarely—that the day of the cowpuncher in the Indian territory was passing. He had made up his mind to talk to Joe Craig about it and tell him he was thinking of leaving. And because he was grateful to Craig, he would wait until his next birthday. Craig had adopted him not legally, it was true, but effectively—and he would stick to his own end of the bargain as Craig's ward and take orders from him until his coming age should release him from the moral obligation.

He had it all worked out: he would go to Pawnee Bill the following spring and when the show closed he would return to the Bar K and say goodbye. Then—well, he didn't know. He didn't like the show business well enough to remain in it very long; it was exciting and it gave one a chance to look around at places but it didn't satisfy him. His mind drifted back to the time when he was a boy in the place. If he could find something there—the bay, the ships coming and going—if he could get into the shipping business. . . .

But it did not work out as he had planned. His leave-taking, Rita, whom he had almost succeeded in banishing from his thoughts and who no longer counted in his man's world, returned to the Bar K, fresh from a tour of Europe.

At sight of her his little artificial world went to smash. Like a toy balloon that has been touched with a lighted cigar. The touch of her cool hand as she greeted him sent the blood racing through his veins, just as it had done on a day in the past when he tried to make her accept Cherokee for her own. He tried to speak calmly: "Hello, Rita," and then bit his tongue savagely as he heard the other Bar K hands address her as "Miss Rita."

For she had acquired a new dignity—the poise of her auburn-crowned head, the gentle modulation of her voice, the musical, low-pitched laugh, the drape of stylish Paris-made clothing, all bespoke a new Rita and seemed to say to him: "You see now what a wonderful creature she is. Do you see what a fool you were to think you could forget her?"

Almost her first word to him was for Cherokee. "Do let me see him, Tony."
"I'll get him," and he marched dutifully to fetch him.
He had never seen anything so

TRAINING CLASSES FOR FOREMEN SHOW GROWTH FOR YEAR

Individual Concerns May Run Schools at Profit, Chamber Bulletin Says

A great increase in the number of foreman training courses in practically all lines of industry throughout the country is shown in a survey report of the department of manufacture of the United States chamber of commerce received at the local chamber office. The number of foremanship courses, the bulletin shows, has grown from 165 in 1925 to 933 in 1927. These figures indicate that foreman training is looked upon as an agency for greater efficiency in manufacture, the department points out.

Most of the increases in foremanship courses last year were in the larger industrial states. The outstanding increases for the year were recorded in Connecticut, Michigan and West Virginia. The first state increased sively. "Poor Tony," she said. "I'm beginning to realize," she resumed after a long silence, "what a trial I've been to mother at times."

He murmured something in protest, but she hurried on. "Yes I have; she's worried a lot about me—I've been rather stubborn and wilful—very much of a trial."

He hated to hear her reproach herself, and told her so. "You mustn't talk like that; you're worried, that's all. I reckon I'd feel the same way if she was my mother—the only difference being that I'd have something to reproach myself with, and you haven't; you're just scaring up things."

"No I'm not," she insisted, shaking her head stubbornly. "No I'm not, Tony, do you understand?"
"Understand?" he repeated in bewilderment.

She laughed nervously. "Oh, Tony, you do you mean. Once, just because I'd said I'd give anything to have Cherokee for my own, you offered him to me. Don't you suppose I know how much it hurt you to say that? But you thought it would make me happy. Sometimes the only way we can make others happy is by hurting ourselves, isn't it?"

from 3 to 4; the second from 5 to 73; and the last from 4 to 43.
Virtually every line of industry is represented in the foreman training movement. The machinery group, not including the transportation equipment, has the largest number of courses. On the basis of the number rubber products and chemicals and allied product groups are far in the lead.
"The phenomenal growth of foreman training courses," the bulletin says, "offers encouragement to those who appreciate the great value of human efficiency in American industry and are giving these efforts sympathy and support. No attempt has been made to value types of courses nor to suggest standards. Those who have them in charge have used initiative to get results with due regard to the conditions to be met."
"The great increase in courses within the short period from 1925 to 1927 bears eloquent testimony to the fact that today industry regards the trained foreman as a most important factor in management. The greater use of intricate and expensive machinery requires not only better trained attendants but better selected and equipped foremen to lead the personnel for more effective production."

Foreman training courses are being carried on by individual manufacturers, state universities, industrial vocational agencies, chamber of commerce and manufacturer's associations. Such work can be profitably conducted in any community having industrial plants, the bulletin says.

Your Question And Its Answer

By J. A. PANNECK, D. C. Palmer Chiropractor

QUESTION: Different nights I pick up the paper with your Questions and Answers, so I want to write to you for advice. If I were able I would come to see you personally. I have been sick over a year, went to different doctors and took medicine, but it seems I cannot get well. I have lost my strength and unable to eat, cannot sleep nights and my body is numb. Five years ago I had an operation and had a guttie removed. I seemed to gain for a while and gained in weight, but later took sick and went to another doctor who advised me that I had another guttie, but the doctor who performed the operation says I have no other guttie, but this does not make me well. Please explain what can really be the cause of my being sick.

ANSWER: Chiropractic teaches that the cause of disease is the stoppage of flow of mental impulse over the nerves; the idea back of this practice is that the function of nerves is to carry messages from the brain or seat of life, to every organ or part of the body and that when the nerves are impinged or pressed upon by a vertebra that has slipped out of alignment, or becomes subluxated, the ability of the nerve to conduct these impulses is impaired precisely the same as the power of the hose to conduct water is impaired if you step on it. For example: Get a dentist to kill a nerve in a tooth and the tooth is dead. This is to convince you that you will get precisely the same results by impinging the nerves at the spine, and cannot you readily see that a vertebra by slipping out of alignment and pressing on these nerves produces diseases of all kinds in the organs. Do you think that if the nerves leading to your heart, lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, or any other organ or part of the body were to become impinged that these organs would perform their work normally? Chiropractic is distinctly original and the only health form of its kind in the world, therefore, you should consult a competent Chiropractor and let him find the cause of your ailment which is nerve pressure somewhere along the spine.

Use McCall Printed Patterns - - -

In these days of simply made attire, to pay large sums for Ready-to-Wear Clothes is for the most part quite unnecessary. McCall's Printed Patterns make home dressmaking simplicity itself. The printed cutting lines and detailed directions reduce the possibility of error to a vanishing point.

McCall Printed Pattern 5202.

Zigzag lines are popular and are used on the yoke, the flare and deep cuff of this dress. Another feature of this season's style is also shown here—the unevenness or one-sided effects given by slanting flounces.

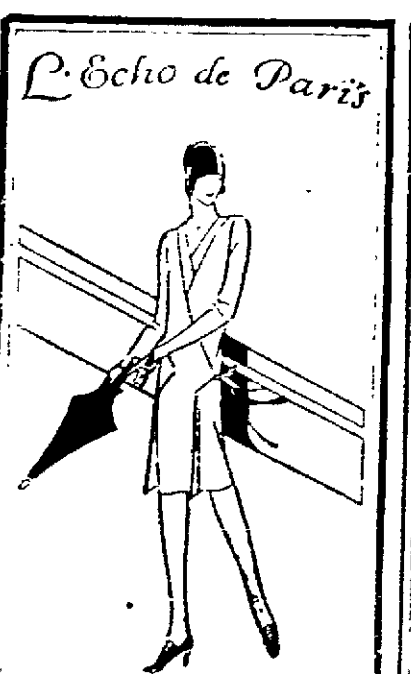

McCall Printed Pattern 5207.

This dress shows the new wide V yoke that is made by a double fold of material. The skirt has a full rippling flare at one side after the style of asymmetric lines. The dress is suitable for almost any kind of fabric.

McCall Printed Pattern 5204.

The front panel gives this dress a princess effect, even though the dress is belted and ties on the side. The full sleeve with a small cuff, or the long tight sleeve with the pointed line extending over the wrist may be used.

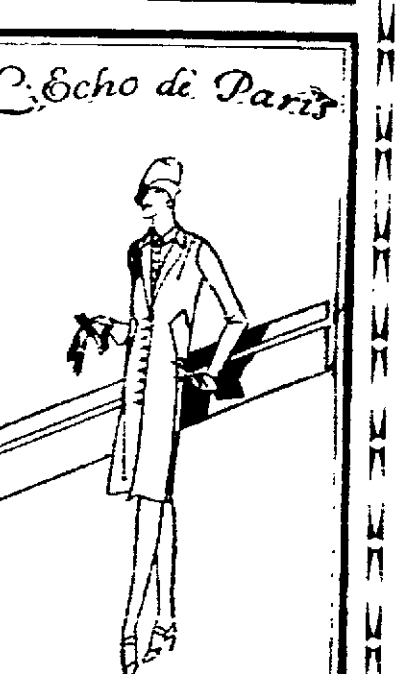

McCall Printed Pattern 5216.

The long surplus line is employed to good advantage on this straight-line dress in wrap-about effect. Two inverted pleats at the side of the skirt carry out the wrap-about lines. This is a valuable "extra" dress to be added to your wardrobe between seasons.

McCall Printed Pattern 5213.

This style practically defines description for it slips on over the head yet wraps around and buckles in front. The full skirt has an uneven hemline making this a charming dance frock. It's as simple to make as it is complicated to describe.

McCall Printed Pattern 5211.

This coat dress in princess style has a high-waisted effect given by the two pieces of material applied to the sides. A smart style, made smarter by the notched collar and mannish vestee.

BEAUTY HOW AND WHY

A STANDARD FOR PRETTY BROWS

Ann Alys

BY ANN ALYS A feminine standard the most admired eyebrows are those which are dark in color, somewhat arched and delicately penciled. Delicately arched and penciled eyebrows would certainly not be in harmony with accepted types of masculine beauty. But for women, it is the ideal thing, particularly if the face be modelled along the oval lines which artists love to paint.

In correcting faulty shape of the brows, carefully consider the matter of harmony. Shape them to correspond with the features. Be careful about the arch, remembering that if it is too high it gives the face a look of permanent surprise that is ludicrous, to say the least.

Many women shave the brows to the desired shape. This is a simple and a good method, its one drawback being the lighter tint of the color of the rest of the face.

Plucking the extra hair with tweezers is a good method of correction. It sometimes causes slight irritation of the skin, but this may be easily alleviated by applying a little zinc oxide ointment or a bland cream of your choice.

Electrolysis is the one and only permanent method of removing unwanted eyebrow hairs. And even this much advertised operation is often unsuccessful. Sometimes the electric needle fails to make contact with the root, making it necessary to repeat the operation.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BREAKFAST—Halves of grapefruit, cereal, cream, smoked haddock on toast, hashed brown potatoes, eggless muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Macaroni and cheese baked with tomatoes, lettuce sandwiches, steamed fruit with boiled custard, milk, tea.

DINNER—Split pea soup, broiled lamb chops, potatoes en casserole, buttered carrots, raisin pie, milk, coffee.

The lettuce sandwiches should be carefully made, using crisp well dried lettuce. Break the leaves into small pieces and sprinkle with a simple boiled dressing. Put between thin slices of buttered whole wheat or graham bread.

STRAINED FLOAT White four eggs, 1/2 teaspoon cream tartar, 1/2 cup grape jelly, 1 tablespoon hot water.

Beat whites until foamy and add cream of tartar. Continue beating until dry. Add jelly with hot water and slowly add to beaten egg whites. Turn into a well-buttered mold and steam for twenty-five minutes. When cold, unmold and serve with a boiled custard made with the yolks of the eggs.

BOILED CUSTARD DRESSING Yolks 4 eggs, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 cups milk, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Scald hot milk in top of double boiler over hot water while preparing other ingredients. Beat egg yolks well and gradually beat in sugar and salt. Add 2 tablespoons hot milk and beat well. Slowly add more milk until sugar is dissolved. Stir into remaining milk and cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture coats the spoon. Cool and add vanilla before serving.

This does not make a very sweet sauce. More sugar can be added if wanted. Two egg yolks can be used and 2 teaspoons flour added with the sugar to make a less expensive but less nourishing sauce.

Household Hints

DUMPLING SPOON Before ladling out dumpling dough, dip the spoon each time into hot liquid. This avoids a stick spoon and the dough will slide off easily.

BOILED EGGS Plunge boiled eggs into cold water and you will find the shells peel off easily.

FRIED EGGS Break fresh eggs into hot fat, add a little water, and cover until the whites are set. This is the old-fashioned southern method of frying.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS—

SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN

FAITH LANE HATHAWAY had never plumed such depths of self-loathing in all her too-inspective life as she reached that Tuesday morning, the third day of her sudden illness.

The thing that plunged her to the very bottom of despair was the realization that both Cherry and Bob had credited her with only the loftiest sentiments. To them she was blameless, a person of such unquestionable nobility that it had never occurred to them to put the true interpretation upon her flight and supposed loss of memory. They had been bewildered, frantic with terror for her, but they had never for a moment explained or sought to explain her strange behavior on the grounds of her jealousy for Cherry. And although she had fled from her family in the company of George Pruitt, a former suitor, a man who still loved her, as they very well knew, neither Bob nor Cherry had for a moment considered the possibility that her flight with George and the taking of an assumed name indicated an intrigue between the two.

No. They could think no evil of her, for they both trusted her implicitly. Alone, except for the nurse, Miss Sutton, Faith turned her face to the wall and wept silently, drearily. Not yet could she take comfort from the fact of their loyalty and their implicit faith. Her conviction of unworthiness was so profound that again she wanted to die. Who was she to be the wife of a man like Bob Hathaway? Ever since the first week of her marriage, she had poisoned her happiness by suspicion and doubt. It was she, not he, who had "uplanted" that Cherry should make her home with them. Had she hoped, in the depths of evil which he dominated even in the best of us, that Bob would be rude to Cherry, that he would ignore her beauty and vivacity and show only his distaste for the girl he had once been in love with?

"I'm not fit to live," Faith cried in her heart despairingly. "I've been called good—the family saint—they've always called me—and I'm not worthy to polish his shoes. When I'm thinking the worst of him, he's doing his best to insure Cherry's happiness—and ours, by urging her to accept and glory in her love for Nils. When I run away from him, mortally sick with horror of him, he explains my insanity by saying—and believing—that it is caused by my overprotective love for Hope, whom Cherry would take from me by marrying Nils. No, I'm not fit to live."

Her ceaseless weeping and her profound despair whipped up the fever which had been almost conquered, and for a few merciful hours she was again too ill for coherent thought. The doctor, puzzled, and alarmed, excluded visitors for the rest of the day. For the girl who hated herself there was a sort of bitter pleasure in being denied a sight of the man and the sister she had wronged. And she had not yet the heart to plan a way out of the "amnesia" deception which she had practised upon the doctor and upon her family.

NEXT: George to the rescue.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

RED RIDING HOOD stepped fair, and Copper shouted, loud, "Be near at hand. Said Scouty, 'wade'! The wolf is very near us and we'd better all look out." Red Riding Hood then, seeing the crowd of their protection, she was proud. The Tynmites' dog began to bark. What was this all about?

"Oh, there it is," woe Carpy cried. "I saw the wolf. He's trying to hide. He's right behind that great big tree. We'd better grab some stones, and if he charges us, we'll fight, and maybe we can chase him out of sight. Say, if I hit him with a rock, I'll surely break his bones."

The hound then spied the big wolf too, and right up toward him promptly flew. "Go get him," shouted Scouty. "We will track him to his lair." The sound and wolf raced out of sight while each and every Tynmite began to pick up little stones and hurl them through the air.

The Tynmites go to a queer house in the woods. In the next story. (Copyright, 1928, NEA Service, Inc.)

Contemporary America Is Portrayed In Vivid Novel Prints Which Are Designed By Artists

BY JULIA BLANCHARD

NEA Service Writer

SPRING establishes all over again "the authority of print"—so far as style in materials go. The printed frock will be the smart one—from ballroom to beach this season. Dozens of different patterns figure in the designs of these new prints and in every material from "lavable" silks to transparent velvets.

There are flowers, birds, beads, dots, dashes, blocks, geometric figures, some conventional patterns, others with their figures scattered in decorative manner here or there.

MODERN MOST INTERESTING The most interesting of the new prints are the modern ones. If these are foreign prints they may look to Moscow's domes, Viennese crystal flowers or Indian culture for their inspiration.

But the 100 per cent American prints take contemporary life in this country under consideration and derive the most unusual designs from activity. Some of them take definite local into their scheme and feature the characteristics of some spot dear to the heart of the designer. Such is "Cactus Flowers" from the desert and a print that shows the delicate grandeur of the eucalyptus tree designed by a Californian.

CHUG-CHUGGING TUGS Intriguingly new are the prints that have some motor impulse behind them. "Tugboats" designed by A. Petrucci is especially fitting this season, for it shows a multitude of little red and blue tugs at full steam chugging up a grayish blue background that might be the harbor.

Speckles of color flutter here and there across the pattern in guests that look like the type of confetti shower that accompanies a Lindbergh welcome or a reception to the Irish president.

Something new in the way of patriotism is the Helen White print called "Stars and Stripes." This waves the flag in a rhythmic pattern of red and white rippling stripes and stars on a rich blue background. For a convenient Contemporary America as expressed in spring prints: The frock is a cardigan sports model of the "Stars and

WHO CARES FOR YOUR CHILD?

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

D R. ANGELO Patri, the much-quoted authority on children, writes a chapter on nurse-maids that is more than worth quoting.

Some members of the "union" were conversing on park benches. The "little miss," a tiny mite of three, the charge of one of the gossips, stood listening in.

One of the nurse maids pointed to her significantly. "Go and play with your things, darlin'," said the one who was supposed to be looking after her but who was busy whispering and making veiled references to her "family."

Mr. Patri says, "Darlin' didn't understand in the terms the gossiping maid understood, but the remarks sank into her mind, and there they would stay to be recalled at most unfortunate times and places."

Another nurse maid said to her charge, "Sit there till I come for you and mind you, don't stir or speak to a living soul until I come and fetch you." Then, as she lifted the little chap to the bench she ordered, "If you move off that spot or speak to anybody, that big brown bear you saw a minute ago will come back here and not leave a pick of you."

She moved off to the turn of the road to talk to a friend. The wee frightened figure huddled close. He couldn't have moved if he wanted to. Later when she came back and lifted him down she said, "I'll tell the bear not to bite you this time."

Another one sits and knits and allows the boiling sun to shine on the baby's eyes and face. Others never look to see if flies are crawling over unprotected sleeping babies.

Mr. Patri adds that good characters are expensive but not nearly so much so as poor ones. He suggests that if a nurse must be had, for two mothers to pool their money and hire a good one for both babies. "Only a trained and trustworthy caretaker should take care of little children," he remarks.

Mr. Patri, the principal of a public school in New York City, lives in a district where he is able to observe these things. Most American mothers take care of their own children. A few can afford trained nurses—but he speaks to that still large enough class who will advertise and then put their babies in charge of whomsoever may answer.

THERE ARE FIREPLACES IN BOTH DINING ROOM AND LIVING ROOM

FOR YOU AND YOURS—A HOME COZY, CHARMING

Life in "The Collingwood" is just naturally different and entertaining a pleasure. For its interior plan is distinctive, introducing many little surprises that should bring swift appreciation of the unusual.

In the first place, both the dining room and the living room have big, alluringly cozy fireplaces. And this day of rush the idea of a hot crackling cheerily to encourage a heartily dinner is enough to intrigue the most modern.

There are clothes chutes, as icebox that fills from the outside, a number of big closets, a built-in ironing board, cabinet and other conveniences and an extra lavatory downstairs.

For so attractive an exterior and so conveniently charming and interesting an interior, the price is not high—from $7000 to $9000.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overwork the kidneys' their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and sluggish. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, moving all the body's various waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach is sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. adv.

Reversal Of Gold Flow Causes Stocks To Drop

New York —(AP)—Gold ceased flowing into the coffers of the United States late in 1927. The stream was reversed and the year ended with a net loss of about $150,000,000 from a stock estimated to contain more than half the world's supply.

Most of the gold never left this country, "earmarkings" increasing about $158,000. Gold exports increased $140,000,000. Imports gained only $7,000,000.

"Earmarking" in reality is simply the setting aside in a separate compartment of the Federal Reserve Bank's huge vault a certain amount of gold purchased by a foreign government. Usually the "earmarking" process consists of attaching to the door of the compartment a mark indicating the files wherein may be found the records of the transaction. In the compartment the gold remains until wanted.

Canada, which supplied $33,500,000, sent the largest total shipments to this country. Great Britain sent $31,000,000, Australia $22,000,000, Japan $20,000,000 and France $11,000, the rest coming from Chile, Ecuador and The Netherlands.

Argentina's withdrawal of $62,000,000 represented the largest net export. Additional gold was earmarked for, or sent to Brazil to the amount of $34,000,000, Germany $14,000,000 and to Poland, China, Hongkong, Belgium, British Malaya, India, Uruguay, Venezuela and Sweden in lesser amounts.

Actually, the movement of gold is a cautious, secretive process, well guarded by military escorts and weighing into the coffers of the United States late in 1927. The stream was reversed and the year ended with a net loss of about $150,000,000 from a stock estimated to contain more than half the world's supply.

A LEAP YEAR DUEL
Pillsburycar — Leap year was ushered into this town with a duel between two young maidens who had matrimonial designs on the same man. Louise Fazekas met her rival on one of the main thoroughfares. When they could not agree as to which should have the man of their choice they drew penknives and proceeded to slash away in such a convincing manner that the crowd had difficulty in stopping the combat. FRIDAY GAMES
Ripon 27, Monmouth 23.

SATURDAY GAMES
LAWRENCE 27, MONMOUTH 24 (Overtime).

MONDAY GAMES
LAWRENCE AT RIPON.
MONMOUTH AT BELLOIT.

A basket from midfloor by Pierce, Viking guard, during the second minute of the overtime battle, followed by free throws by Remmel and Schneller, gave Lawrence college's sophomore basketball team its third Midwest conference win of the 1928 season Saturday afternoon at Army G. with the strong Monmouth college team of Monmouth, Ill. the victim of a 27-24 defeat. The game was the most exciting in the second period and overtime, when the crowd was on its feet yelling most of the way with the score zigzagging from one team to the other.

The game was peculiar in that first one team and then the other seemed to have an easy lead. Lawrence took what seemed to be the lead early in the first half, but before the period ended Monmouth was a basket behind the Vikings. Then Monmouth took what appeared to be an easy victory, early in the final period. Lawrence came back to tie the score when the visitors started stalling with eleven minutes to play and a big lead. Then Lawrence forced a tie with three minutes to play seemed to have the game cinched by four points. Monmouth came back once more while Lawrence was stalling to tie the count a few seconds before the final gun.

Schneller, playing his first game for Lawrence, led both teams in scoring with his six baskets and a free throw for 13 of 27 points, his markers coming as the result of use of his height under the hoop. He looked only fair in defense and early in the first period appeared either lost or winded and his floorwork was only fair, but his shooting made up for it. When he should have been the leading jumper of the midwest loop.

Outside of Schneller, Slavic and Pierce played their usual steady games and their defensive work dribbling and "feeding" was good. Rasmussen netted two neat baskets that Lawrence led in the running after Monmouth had taken the lead in the final period, when he returned from a siege on the bench. Jackola and Hilton, other new men were given a chance, and Jackola exhibited the most speed of any man on the Blue squad in carrying the ball down fast to the enemy basket. His dribble also was good but he shot too heavily, missing a few easy ones. When his eye returns he will be one of the most valuable forwards of the Denny quint.

Hornor, Monmouth center, handled himself about as neatly as any man who ever played here both offensively and defensively and his shooting was good. He dropped five baskets for his team and Williamson, blonde forward added three on hard shots and two free tries but missed three foul throws. Morocco, the speed demon of the visiting team, fed his mates nicely and often outdressed several Blue players. He also contributed four free throws in four attempts that started Monmouth on its lead at the start of the second half. Lawrence made five free throws in eight attempts, a great improvement over past performances, and Monmouth made six of eleven.

Monmouth opened the scoring after three minutes of play on a long basket by Mohlenbrock and Williamson missed two free tries on a foul. Schneller followed Slavic's long try and dropped it through with a one-hand looper. Slavic added two points on fouls by Smith and Williamson. Hornor tied it up on a follow shot, batting the ball through the ring on the third attempt. Schneller's shot over the rim on a third follow attempt and added another from the side. He scored again from right under the hoop on a perfect pass from the side at midfloor by Jackola and Lawrence led, 10-4. Williamson sneaked under the hoop for a basket and Hornor did the same. Jackola and Remmel worked the ball under the hoop by neat teamwork and the forward scored. Hornor dropped a two-bounce play near the Monmouth basket. Schneller took the pass and hooked a one-handed shot through the hoop. Rasmussen missed a free try on Smith's foul.

With two minutes to go and Lawrence leading, 23-19, the Vikings started to stall but Williamson and Hornor broke through for ringers to tie the score just before the final gun was shot. Pierce dribbled through two try and he split even on the throw. He was showing great speed. Williamson split even on Jackola's foul and when Lawrence broke back fast on the miss of his second try Schneller scored under the hoop, taking a nice pass from Remmel.

Williamson added a horseshoe shot and neither team scored for several minutes with Monmouth leading 10-13. With 11 minutes to play the visitors started to stall, drawing Lawrence into a man to man defense. When the Blues learned of the time left they returned to a zone defense and soon Pierce dribbled to midfloor and lofted a basket. Hornor missed a shot on Schneller's foul. Rasmussen, just inserted into the game, tied the count. Remmel dribbled to midfloor and shot a bullet pass to Rasmussen directly

RIPON, LAWRENCE BATTLE FOR THIRD

Ancient Rivals in Important Midwest Game at Ripon Tonight

When Lawrence and Ripon college basketball teams renew a rivalry of half a century this evening at the Ripon courts, third place in the Midwest conference will depend on the outcome. Both teams took the measure of Monmouth by almost exactly the same score the last weekend and as a result a fierce battle is expected. Some critics also will count the game in the Little Five standings though both schools withdrew last fall, disbanding the conference and the new Little Four does not start sport competition until next fall.

Ripon tied for fifth place with a 2-3 mark by beating Monmouth and Lawrence tied for third with a 2-3 record by halting the Illinois collegians. A Lawrence win means a lone third in the race for the laurels and a Ripon win means that Ripon will replace the Vikings in the third-place tie, shoving Lawrence down to fifth.

Lawrence has wins over Beloit, Hamilton and Monmouth and losses to Carleton and Cornell, while Ripon has won from Cornell, a team that beat Lawrence and Monmouth. It suffered one of its losses, however, at the hands of Hamilton, which the Vikings in turn beat. The game is a tossup with Ripon having the slight home floor edge.

Coach Denny probably will start Schneller at center; Rasmussen or Jackola and Remmel at forwards and Hoffman and Pierce at guards. Hilton, Hoffman and Voelck will be in reserve.

KIMBERLY CAGERS LOSE TO KOHLERS

Louie Loose's Quint Has Little Trouble With K-C Five

Kimberly—Louie Loose's quintet of six-footers from Kohler had little trouble downing the Kimberly-Clark Co. Athletics 37-21, Friday evening at Kimberly clubberies. Kohler has the edge most of the game though Kimberly threatened at times to take the lead. The quarter ended 10-5 for Kohler and the half 18-14. The third period closed 29-20 for the winners.

Loose, the old Kimberly coach, manager and star, was the big boy against his old mates, marking up six ringers. Lonsdorf added five and a pair of free throws and Martell three and a free throw. For Kimberly Williams and Courchane led with the former having two baskets and two free tries and the latter three ringers and a basket.

K-C added two baskets and played a good floor game in spite of an ankle sprained two weeks ago.

In the preliminary game Lefty's Aces led by the midget, Buck LeMay, for the Press-Gazette team of Green Bay, 22-11. The half ended 10-5 for Kimberly. LeMay had four ringers and played a fine floor game. Williams and Courchane had two ringers and a free try and Detsche had two baskets.

CORNER CAGERS LOSE IN 3 EXTRA PERIODS

It took the Kimberly-Clark Co. basketball team of Neenah three overtime periods to whip Bill Meltz's Twelve Corners cagers in a game played at the Corners Friday evening. The best battle ever staged at the Corners hall. Neenah led 8-3 at the first quarter and 14-13 at the half, when the home team outscored them 10-6 in the second quarter. Neenah again forged ahead in the third quarter led by 27-17, allowing the Corners men only four points. In the final quarter the home team staged a desperate last-minute rally to take a 12-2 margin and tie the score at 29-29, holding the visitors to a single basket.

Each team scored a ringer in the first overtime period and each added two in the second. An overhead shot by a Neenah man broke the tie in the third extra session as the Corners played scoreless. The Corners boys played the best game they ever have. Stringer and Schmidt starred for the losers and Behnke and Olson for the winners. On Wednesday evening, Feb. 15, the Corners team will play the faculty quint of Roosevelt junior high school of Appleton at the Corners.

JACK LOCKWILL'S HELPING HAND

The Leaping Kangaroo stared at his roommate, open-mouthed and thunder-struck. "Why—why, where'd you come from?" he stammered. "How'd you get in here, Jack?" "That's what I'd like to know!" snapped a player at the opposite side of the table, rising to his feet. "This is a private club. No guy can stick his snoot in here unless he's been okeyed proper."

The fellow was a pasty-faced, vicious young rascal of the town. Jack knew him by sight and reputation. "Sit down, Trigger," he urged. "You can't scare anybody."

Then Lockwill ignored the threatening gamster, and turned his attention to Sinnott again. "Come, Jerry," he urged. "I can't quit now," said Jerry. "I'm a loser."

"You'll be a heavier loser if you stay here and let these crooks trim you," declared Jack. "I saw them cheat you out of the last pot." "Come on, fellers!" cried Trigger. "Beat up the liar!" Lockwill seized the edge of the table and thrust it against them as they were starting up from their chairs. They toppled backward, and he flung the table over upon them.

YOUTH CONVICTED OF ASSAULT SENT UP FOR BURGLARY

Herbert Smith's Parole Cancelled by Judge — Complainant's Husband Fined

Herbert Smith, 19, Kaukauna, was sentenced to spend from one to three years in the Green Bay reformatory by Judge George B. Koch Monday morning after the judge cancelled a parole given Smith in the spring of 1925 following conviction of burglary in the night time.

Smith was to be sentenced Monday for assault with intent to rape but when the judge learned he was on probation he cancelled the parole and sentenced him on the burglary charge. The Kaukauna youth was convicted of assault a week ago by a municipal court jury and sentence was deferred while the judge investigated his case.

The charge against Smith was made by Mrs. George De Koch, combined with the fact that Smith attempted to attack her early in the morning on Christmas day after her husband and Smith had returned from a Christmas eve party. Smith and De Koch are cousins, it is said.

De Koch was arrested Monday by Sheriff Otto Zochel on a charge of possessing illicit liquor and when arrested before Judge Berg he pleaded guilty and was fined $160 and costs. Mrs. Francis Smith, mother of the Kaukauna boy, secured the warrant for De Koch's arrest. She complained that De Koch gave her son liquor at the Christmas eve party.

STATE SCHOOLS WILL AND RESEARCH WORK OF LOCAL TEACHERS

Beaver Dam and Waupun Agree to Delve into Mythology and Biography

Two schools, Beaver Dam under the direction of Superintendent W. R. Davies and Waupun under the direction of Superintendent Henry Wegner, are going to aid Appleton public schools in research work in supplementary reading, according to Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools at Beaver Dam, on works on mythology and Waupun on biography.

Groups of teachers of the various grade schools of Appleton, with Miss Emma Pynn as general chairman, have completed a graded list of poems for the supplementary reading program which will be mimeographed this week. This list has been compiled according to difficulties in such a way that there is no overlapping of subject matter, the kindergarten having first choice throughout in the selection of poems because of its limited field of comprehension.

This work on poems to be studied in the school system is only part of a large program of supplementary reading. This phase of learning is a broadening or rounding out of subject matter; it reaches out and includes interesting and vital bits of information in every field of learning, such as history, geography, science, relating tales of travel, exploration, and invention. It supplements history through biography, literature through art and mythology.

The child, in completing the primary schools, has built up a background of culture of educational value. The principle of the supplementary reading of the primary schools resembles that of the junior high schools in their courses in exploratory guidance, which gives the child an opportunity to explore each field of activity of the world today in order to give him an idea of the scope, nature, opportunities and his own ability to measure up to the respective requirements of service.

The members of the committees which worked on the poems were: First grade, Miss Katherine Conway, chairman, Miss Tessie Knauer, Miss Emma Pynn, Miss Frances Patten, Miss Laurette Friebel; second grade, Mrs. Jessie Collins, chairman, Miss Lois Smith, Miss Lena Carley, Miss Katherine Featherston; third grade, Miss Olga Heller, chairman, Miss Genevieve Murphy; fourth grade, Miss Evelyn Davidson, chairman, Miss Rachel Cody, Miss Eula Burrell; fifth grade, Miss Frances Hilton, chairman, Miss Josephine Sexton, Miss Eleanor Bergen, Mrs. Margaret St. Clair; sixth grade, Miss Magdalen Kohl, chairman, Mrs. Mabel Johnson, Miss Pearl Fellows, Miss Grace Wilted.

The geography committee is working on stories of travel which will be completed in a short time.

SUBMIT MANY NAMES IN SLOGAN CONTEST

Students to Vote on Best Three Slogans; Winner Will Be Adopted

More than 60 suggestions for slogans in the slogan contest, carried on at Appleton high school for the last two weeks, have been turned in at the office, according to H. H. Heblie, principal. The contest ended Saturday.

The slogan is to be the label of the athletic teams of the high school. Heretofore they have been designated as the Orange and Blue.

A committee composed of Miss Minnie Smith, Leland Delforge, H. H. Heblie, Janet Carnross, Carlton Roth and Charles Johnson will select the three best slogans and submit them for student vote next week. The winner will be entitled to a free pass to all the athletic contests of 1923-24 and a page of the Clarion will be devoted to the contest.

A design and cut will be made from the slogan to be used as the insignia of the high school and will be reproduced in the Talsman and the Clarion.

CHAMBER GETTING DATA ON GROWTH OF BUSINESS

A history of Appleton from its earliest days, including the story of the first street car, is being prepared by the chamber of commerce for use in a radio program advertising the city. The material will be turned over to Judge Edgar V. Weaver for the circuit court and it will be broadcast soon after the Wisconsin Booster tourists return from the southern trip.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All Drug Stores.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat when you like, too. 50c, 60c.

ROSEBUSH WILL SPEAK AT Y. M. C. A. MEETING

Judson G. Rosebush, vice president of Appleton Y. M. C. A. and a national committeeman of the association, will speak to directors and committeemen of the local association at a supper meeting at 6:15 Monday evening, Feb. 6. Mr. Rosebush will speak on "The Work and The Relation of the Appleton Y. M. C. A. to State, National and World Service." He recently attended a national council session in Chicago.

The remainder of the meeting will be spent in a discussion of the season's program and activities, the completion of all standing committees of the association for the year and a discussion of a plan for regular monthly meetings of all committees.

POST OFFICE READY FOR CHICK SHIPMENTS

Postal Department Lists Rules to Be Followed in Shipping

The local post office, in anticipating the first shipments of chicks which usually arrive in late February, has issued a notice that the postal department requires patrons to comply with certain rules. These rules are enumerated by a recent bulletin from the postal department office at Washington, D. C., and are as follows:

See that all shipments are definitely and completely addressed. Do not mail chicks on Friday or Saturday if there is no delivery at the station of their destination on Sunday. The same applies for holidays. Chicks are mailable only when the addressee can be reached in 72 hours from the time of mailing. Shipments must bear a special handling stamp which gives them the rating of first class mail although they are sent parcel post.

The bulletin also contained definite information as to how postal employees should treat shipments of chicks.

Good Roads Boosters Popular Back in 1910

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin had its good road boosters back in 1910.

This is shown by a reproduction of a certificate for the Chicago-Milwaukee "automobile, transportation and public road," in the latest issue of "Badger Highways," the state highway commission's publication.

Much like the aims of the good road boosters of today were those of the people of the days when there were few surfaced roads and a 100-mile auto trip was a real adventure, the certificate shows. It was issued by the now defunct Chicago-Milwaukee road and fealty company, capitalized at half a million dollars for the purpose of constructing the "Great White Way" road between the two cities.

Here are the objects to which the 1910 boosters committed themselves: "First—the educational benefits to be derived from a cooperative body of this character in establishing this new and desirable method of road construction, a plan by which to obtain good roads 'without taxation.' "Second—The benefit of each Club member's influence in promoting and developing the work of constructing

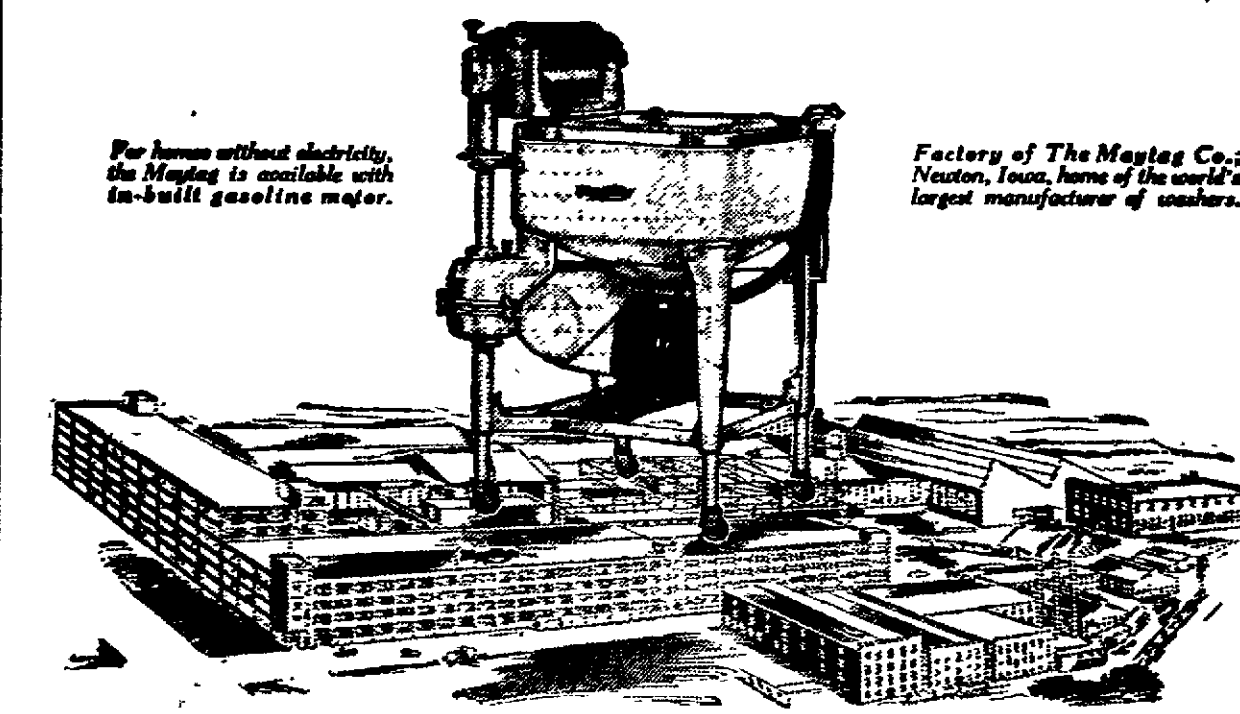

"The Great White Way" from Chicago to Milwaukee.

"Third—The benefits that comes from organization and combined effort. 'In Union There Is Strength'—and by a combined effort of a large club membership this movement will be given such impetus as will insure the speedy completion of the work of constructing this automobile transportation and public road from Chicago to Milwaukee.

"Fourth—The value of influence of club members. The difference between the club membership fee of ten dollars ($10.00) and the face value of the stock ($50.00) is regarded as fully compensated in value of the member's influence for the speedy and complete success of the undertaking.

For a free trial washing—no cost, no obligation. If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.

THE genius that wins leadership never rests. By the time others have struggled to heights attained by leaders, the leaders have blazed trails to new accomplishments.

The Maytag Aluminum Washer for five years stood without a rival. Then came the New Maytag, as far in advance of the times as the former Maytag was five years before. The big Maytag factory is now turning out 1400 washers a day.

The unmatched speed and thoroughness which characterized the Maytag of former years has been enhanced by many noteworthy features in the New Maytag. Important among them is a Soft Roller Water Remover which hugs every fold of the clothes. Both the soap and water are extracted evenly—delicate buttons and filmy laces go through unharmed.

STUDENTS ASKED TO AID NEAR EAST RELIEF FUND

Valentine day will be made more significant this year at Appleton high school, for each student will be asked to contribute toward a fund for the relief of orphan boys and girls of the Near East, according to H. H. Heblie, principal. As Valentine day is the high school banking day, students will be asked to make their deposits to the cashiers for this fund.

Public schools throughout the United States will cooperate in the movement. "The impressive feature is the lesson our own children receive through the contrast of the privileges they enjoy as compared with the orphan children overseas," says John Callahan, state superintendent of schools, in a letter received by Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of school, which urged the cooperation of the Appleton public schools.
